UCC Table Info:

The UCC table has all the actual UCC filings. The collateral table has the type of asset used as collateral and is tied to the UCCs but allows the user to search for UCCs that have a particular collateral type.

For instance, if a user wants to look for UCCs with a Secured Party of PNC Bank, then only the UCC table is needed.

If the user wants to find UCCs that have collateral of Inventory, he would have to use the collateral table. The collateral table is a 1 to many relationship to the UCCs on the UCC table because there can be up to 32 different collateral designations for each UCC.
